

The Love Your Liver mobile scanning unit is available to hire for community testing and awareness-raising events

The British Liver Trust's Love Your Liver mobile unit travels across the UK, engaging directly with the public to provide vital education on liver disease risk factors, encourage healthier lifestyle choices, and support early identification through free, accessible liver health assessments.

Whether you're planning surveillance initiatives, community liver health checks, or seeking to identify individuals with liver disease at an earlier stage, our state-of-the-art mobile unit offers an effective and impactful solution.

By hiring the Love Your Liver unit, we can help you deliver targeted public health interventions and promote better liver health in your communities.

Our mobile unit has two full-size scanning rooms and a third room that can be used for testing (such as BBV testing), consultation or meetings. There is an opportunity for ODNs and other NHS teams to hire the unit.

The mobile unit offers:

- High visibility: the branded unit provides a focal point for attendees
- Self-contained provision of scanning: the mobile unit contains a reception/waiting area plus two full-size scanning rooms and a further room that can be used for patient consultations etc
- High-scan volume potential: with both scanning rooms in operation then patient volume targets would be 100-120 per day.
